Injury shatters Casey Alexander's dream of becoming a prima ballerina, so she opens a dance studio in her home town of Angel Falls. Among her students are the daughters of her high-school sweetheart Ben and his wife Melody, Casey's ex-best friend.

Witnessing Ben and Melody's happy-ever-after on a weekly basis fuels her determination to find someone of her own to love. But eligible men are scarce as hen's teeth in the quaint little town on the backside of nowhere. Until a sexy Scottish editor, Ian Buchanan, buys the town's failing newspaper.

Ian is hot and hunky, intelligent and interesting, easy to fall for. And Casey does fall, hard. Then fate returns Ben to Casey. Torn between the might've beens of the past and a new dream of the future, Casey must choose between one man she never stopped loving, and another who holds the power to heal her wounded heart.

Angel Falls is the winner of the New England Reader's Choice Award and is a finalist in the national Excellence in Romantic Fiction Award for the Best First Book. Her next book, Hear Them Speak, a how-to book about animal communication will be available this fall, with the second book in the Angel Falls series to follow soon after. To find out more, visit www.BabetteDeJongh.com

Copies of the book will be available to purchase for $13.

Babette de Jongh grew up in Demopolis and taught ballet in Demopolis for several years after graduating from The University of Alabama. She has a Master's Degree in education and has taught ballet and elementary school. Suffering from a rare form of Creative ADHD, she spent her teens and twenties dancing, teaching, drawing and painting. In her thirties, she added writing. In her forties, she added sculpting. Now in her fifties, she is perfecting the art of keeping her diverse interests and activities in balance. In addition to all this compulsive artistry, she is a telepathic animal communicator, and teaches workshops and classes at her backwoods home, Dragonfly Pond Farm.
